United Kingdom Taxation

The following is a summary of various aspects of the United Kingdom (“UK”) taxation regime which may apply to UK resident or ordinarily resident persons acquiring Shares in the classes of the Sub-Fund, and where such persons are individuals, only to those domiciled in the UK. It is intended as a general summary only, based on current law and practice in force as of the date of this prospectus. Such law and practice may be subject to change, and the summary below is not exhaustive. Further, it will apply only to those UK Shareholders holding Shares as an investment rather than those which hold Shares as part of a financial trade; and does not cover UK Shareholders which are tax exempt or subject to special taxation regimes.

This summary should not be taken to constitute legal or tax advice, and any prospective investors should consult their own professional advisers on the implications of making an investment in, and holding or disposing of, Shares and the receipt of distributions (whether or not on redemption) with respect to such Shares under the law of the countries in which they are liable to taxation.

The Company

The affairs of the Company are intended to be conducted in such a manner that it should not become resident in the UK for taxation purposes. Therefore, provided that the Company does not carry on a trade in the UK through a permanent establishment located there, then the Company will not be subject to UK corporation tax on income or chargeable gains arising to it, other than on certain UK source income.

Income and gains received by the Company may be subject to withholding or similar taxes imposed by the country in which such returns arise.

Shareholders

Subject to their personal tax position, UK resident Shareholders holding Shares at the end of each ‘reporting period’ (as defined for UK tax purposes) will potentially be subject to UK income tax or corporation tax on their share of a Sub-Fund’s ‘reported income’ (and any dividends received to the extent that the reported amount exceeds dividends received). The terms ‘reported income’, ‘reporting period’ and their implications are discussed in more detail below. Both reported income and dividends will be treated as dividends received from a foreign corporation, subject to any re-characterisation as interest, as described below.

Individual Shareholders resident or ordinarily resident in the UK under certain circumstances may benefit from a non-refundable tax credit in respect of reported income or dividends received from corporate offshore funds invested largely in equities (i.e. where the offshore fund is not considered a bond fund for UK tax purposes).

Dividends reported or paid by offshore corporate funds made to companies resident in the UK are likely to fall within one of a number of exemptions from UK corporation tax (each corporate investor will need to consider its own position). In addition, dividends reported or paid to non-UK companies carrying on a trade in the UK through a permanent establishment in the UK should also fall within the exemption from UK corporation tax on dividends to the extent that the shares held by that company are used by, or held for, that permanent establishment.

The Investment Manager intends to operate each relevant Sub-Fund so that it does not invest more than 60% of its assets in interest-bearing (and economically similar) assets at any time. Consequently, their reported income (and any dividends paid) will constitute dividend income for UK income tax purposes in the hands of individual investors. UK corporation tax paying investors will not be required to re-characterise their holdings as loan relationships.

UK Reporting Fund Rules

HM Treasury regulations introduced new provisions to modernise the offshore funds regime. These provisions replace the former "distributing fund regime" and are effective for periods of accounts commencing on or after 1 December 2009.

Where an investor resident or ordinarily resident in the UK holds an interest in an offshore fund that has been a 'reporting fund' for all periods of account for which they hold their interest, any gain accruing upon the sale or other disposal of the interest will be subject to tax as a capital gain rather than income. Relief will be available for any accumulated or reinvested profits which have already been subject to UK income tax or corporation tax on income (even where such profits are exempt from UK corporation tax).

It should be noted that a "disposal" for UK tax purposes would generally include a switching of interest between Sub-Funds.

In broad terms, a 'reporting fund' is a sub-fund of an offshore fund that is certified in advance by HM Revenue & Customs as a reporting fund and then meets certain annual reporting requirements to HM Revenue & Customs and its Shareholders. The following Sub-Funds have received certification as reporting funds with effect from their respective effective dates as stipulated in the table below, and the Directors intend to manage their affairs so that they continue to be certified as reporting funds:

	Sub-Fund Name	Effective Date
1.	Market Access Rogers International Commodity Index UCITS ETF	1 January 2010
2.	Market Access NYSE Arca Gold BUGS Index UCITS ETF	1 January 2010
3.	Market Access STOXX® China A Minimum Variance Index UCITS ETF	7 June 2018

For the latest information and to check their effective date please see:
<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/offshore-funds-list-of-reporting-funds>.

Such annual duties will include calculating and reporting 100% of the income returns of the offshore fund for each reporting period (as defined for UK tax purposes) on a per-Share basis to all relevant Shareholders (as defined for these purposes). UK Shareholders which hold their interests at the end of the reporting period to which the reported income relates, will be subject to income tax or corporation tax on the higher of the full reported amount and any cash distribution paid. The reported income will be deemed to arise to UK Shareholders on the date the report is issued by the Directors provided that the Fund reports within 6 months of the year end.

Once reporting fund status is obtained from HM Revenue & Customs for the relevant Sub-Funds, it will remain in place permanently provided that the annual reporting requirements are satisfied.

Information regarding the Sub-Funds that may generate reportable income will be made available on the website of the Company: www.marketaccessetf.com. Investors should therefore check this website to confirm the reportable income per unit of the Sub-Funds each year, in order to include their reportable income (which will be reportable income per unit multiplied by the number of units held at the relevant year-end) on their tax return. Investors will not receive notification by post of the reportable income per unit unless they request the information in this format in writing. Requests should be made in writing to the address below within 2 months of the end of the relevant accounting period for which the notification by post is required.

UK resident individuals who are not domiciled in the UK may be liable to UK income and capital gains tax only on amounts remitted to the UK depending on their personal circumstances and whether they have paid the remittance basis charge for the relevant year.

Anti-Avoidance Provisions

The UK tax rules contain a number of anti-avoidance codes that can apply to UK investors in offshore funds in particular circumstances. It is not anticipated that they will normally apply to investors. Any UK taxpaying investor who (together with connected persons) holds over 10% of the Company should take specific advice.

Other Provisions

Any individual shareholder domiciled or deemed to be domiciled in the UK for UK tax purposes may be liable to UK inheritance tax on their Shares in the event of death or on making certain categories of lifetime transfer.

Since the Company is not incorporated in the UK and the register of Shareholders will be kept outside the UK, no liability to UK stamp duty reserve tax should arise by reason of the transfer, subscription for, or redemption of Shares. Liability to UK stamp duty will not arise provided that any instrument in writing, transferring Shares in the Company, or shares acquired by the Company, is executed and retained at all times outside the UK. However, the Company may be liable to transfer taxes in the UK on acquisitions and disposals of investments. In the UK, stamp duty reserve tax or stamp duty at a rate of 0.5% will be payable by the Company on the acquisition of shares in companies that are either incorporated in the UK or that maintain a share register there.
